

CERN Science Gateway

A chance to meet some of the team behind CERN's new science centre, opened last October. There'll be presentations on exhibitions, hands-on labs and science-shows, plus results from the first round of audience research post-opening. This session will share on lessons learnt and practical advice to others working on similar initiatives. It will pick up on conference themes such as integrating inclusive practices and design, learning from social sciences and sharing content across borders. There will be plenty of chances to ask questions.

The perfect opportunity to prepare your visit to CERN on Friday!

Type of Participation

Type of submission

Session Classification: Thursday Afternoon